THE TRUTH

Every so often in this hectic life of grinding out the news for the public we are confronted with situations that would try the soul of a saint. Not so many years ago when many newspapers were tinted somewhat yellow—not referring to the weather-worn paper—it was customary to yield the heavy club of suppression. Today that is practically a thing of the past. Only rarely is a story kept from print due to some ulterior motive other than keeping it from the public. It may be the report of a crime in which the police ask cooperation, thinking that undue or untimely publicity will spoil the opportunity of catching the offender—twenty-four hours, or from one edition to the other is usually the limit of time that such a story will be held.

The man or woman who is guilty of a crime who insists that the report of the action will "spell ruin," usually meets with a snattering of advice of "looking before leaping," not that the press is engaged in ruining homes and reputations—but because the American public today demands to know the truth.

Every so often however, some two by four has a verbal fit because a newspaper refuses to squelch some item which they do not wish published for personal reasons. The truth, the real truth, is the only thing that will make us free—and this is the motto of practically every editor today.

The Providence Rhode Island Journal sums the whole thing up in a nutshell when it editorializes:

"We are bound to tell the truth as we find it, without fear of consequence—to lend no convenient shelter to acts of injustices and oppression but to consign them at one to the judgment of the world. It may suit the purpose of the statesmen to veil the Statute of Liberty. Governments must treat other governments with external respect, however black their origin or foul their deeds; but happily the press has no such trammels, and while diplomats are exchanging courtesies, can unmask the mean heart that beats beneath a star, or point out the bloodstains on the band which grasps a sceptre. The duty of the journalist is the same as that of the historian—to seek out the truth, above all things, and to present it to his readers, not such things as statescraft would wish them to know, but the truth as near as he can attain it. Let those who will, preach silence on crimes which they cannot deny and dare not even palliate; we have been trained in another school, and will not shrink from boldly declaring what we freely think."

COMPANY WILL APPLY FOR BUS PERMIT SOON

HEARING WILL BE HELD BY THE CITY COUNCIL

Company Plans to Operate Two Buses Over City Streets With A Five Cent Fare

Formal application for permission to operate a bus service in Richmond will be made probably some time next week, according to C. G. Barrikas, secretary of the Community Bus service, planners of the proposed project. Because of the time required to make arrangements which must be definitely stated in the petition, the company will be unable to present its request for a hearing before the council tomorrow night, but unless unforeseen questions arise, the application will be presented in time for the council to act upon the request at the following regular meeting.

According to the present plans of the bus service, vehicles with wooden bodies of a type to hold more passengers than the bus now in operation to the ferry will be employed. A charge of five cents per passenger is to be made.

The company plans to start operation with two buses, adding more vehicles as the growth of the service warrants.

The definite route to be taken by the busses, together with the type of busses and costs of the proposed project must be made in writing before the council can act upon the project, according to the present city ordinance.

Following the formal application to the council, a date for the hearing of the proposed service must be set by the council which will decide whether or not the proposed service is needed and if so a license to operate will be granted to the company.

It is expected that bus service on the route which will run from Twenty-third street and Macdonald avenue to the Standard Oil refinery via the municipal natatorium will be placed in operation within the next two months, providing the council at the hearing decides favorably for the project.

The new service is expected to furnish adequate transportation along the route established and will be of a benefit to the residents in all sections of the city.

The proposed service has been under consideration for many months but it was not until a group of merchants banded together to make the present plans that the project assumed definite form.

30,000 At Big Ceremonial Of Ku Klux Klan

Huge Audience Hears Lecture On Patriotism At The Richmond Bowl

More than thirty thousand persons gathered at the Richmond bowl last night and heard lecturer James Rush Bronson deliver a stirring address on Patriotism at the Ku Klux Klan initiation ceremonies.

Clansmen throughout Northern California as far south as Santa Cruz and as far north as Santa Rosa began filing the immense bowl as early as six o'clock and continued driving their cars to the scene of the ceremonial as late as ten o'clock. The fiery cross on the hillside stood as a beacon to guide the huge throng.

The program was impressive throughout beginning with the entrance of the robed members into the klavern and ending with the benediction which followed the "naturalization" of one of the largest classes of candidates initiated into the Klan in this section of the state.

Imperial Representative G. W. Price was introduced to the throng and after a few introductory remarks was followed by the lecturer.

Lecturer Bronson stressed the "great responsibility and service necessary in order that this government in which we are a partner may be perpetuated throughout the years."

"We do not set ourselves as being the only citizenship but responsibility must come from those who realize the responsibility of being born under the Stars and Stripes. Never in the history of the nation has there been so much responsibility facing the nation. On every side we are confronted by critics who say that the Constitution can not be enforced. ### W. T. Helms Honored at Banquet Of Cosmopolitan Club Which is Addressed by State School Head

Walter T. Helms, superintendent of city schools for the past twenty-five years was honored at a banquet given last night in the Richmond high school cafeteria by the Cosmopolitan club of the Americanization class of the evening high school.

It was at this occasion that Will C. Wood, state superintendent of schools spoke to the assembly. He complimented Helms on the "good luck and sense" in having Helms as a principal.

Wood declared that Helms is the only principal in the state who had served so long. Wood told the club members he was happy to be there to help Helms celebrate his silver anniversary and had high hopes of being in Richmond when Helms celebrates his golden anniversary as superintendent of the Richmond city schools.

He paid compliments to the Cosmopolitan club for its work. He declared by belonging to this club the members met and became socially, true Americans. For, he declared, the mingling of the blood of the Dutch, English, French, Italians, and other races, is for the idea of carrying through the purposes and the great principles of the American people.

Mrs. H. Shoute, who had charge of the banquet, made the opening speech of the evening and made the presentation of silver salt and pepper shakers to Helms and a small gold knife to Wood.

S. S. French was toast master of the evening and he introduced the speakers.

In his speech of thanks to the members of the club for their token, W. T. Helms touched upon the principal of the club and the work accomplished by the staff in charge. He highly complimented Mrs. Emily Axtell for the interest shown and the hard work she has done and told of the efforts of Theodore Madison, S. Shipkey and S. S. French in building up the organization.

Recognition Of Russia Aim Of Big Business

Soviet Government Would Welcome Recognition Is General Belief

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, June 5.—Big business is bringing heavy pressure to bear upon the State Department for early recognition of Russia, it was learned today.

The renewal of the drive with this aim is headed by Samuel W. Vauchlain, president of the Baldwin Locomotive works; W. A. Harriman, head of the banking and export interests of that name, and other large industrialists now seeking concessions.

The Standard Oil, whose subsidiary the Vacuum, recently acquired vast petroleum exports concessions, also is understood to be supporting the movement.

It is urged by these interests that, at the earliest possible moment, the United States appoint commissioners to meet with Russian officials and work out the terms of a treaty for recognition.

While it was stated that there is no official change in the State department viewpoint, it was learned that Russia would welcome such action. It was also learned that conditions in Russia which prompted the non-recognition policy of former Secretary of State Hughes, still adhered to, have materially changed for the better and the State department is aware of these changes.

These changes concern the waning of the Star of Zinoviev, head of the third international, his loss of power and practically complete disassociation from the government and the building up by the government, of the greatest industrial trust in history.

Concessions of priceless value for the exploitation of natural resources are for sale, as well as a ready market for machinery of all kinds. Harriman, Vauchlain and their associates, as well as other (Continued on Page 6).

FAMOUS FIELD AND 8 HOMES ARE DESTROYED

Entire Fire Department in City Is Used to Bring Flames Under Control

SAN FRANCISCO, June 5.—A roaring, four alarm, fire late this evening, completely destroyed Ewing Field, scene of many of San Francisco's famous athletic events, burned, eight nearby homes to the ground and created havoc in a thirty block area bounded by Pierce, Bush, Octavia and Ellis streets.

Blazing embers driven by a swift wind spread throughout this area setting fire to scores of roofs. No casualties were reported except for minor cuts and bruises received by firemen. Damage according to early estimates will run into thousands of dollars. The cause of the fire is unknown.

Embers from Ewing field jumped Masonic Avenue and charred the shrubbery and blackened gravestones in Calvary cemetery, one of the city's old time burial places. Presentation Convent adjoining the field was threatened with destruction for some time but heroic work by firemen saved the building.

Nuns of the convent prevented a panic by their cool headedness. When it appeared the convent was doomed the Sisters collected their valuables and were prepared to depart at a moment's notice.

When firemen reached Ewing Field that place was a roaring inferno. Flames eating the wooden grandstand were cracking fifty feet into the air. Fire chief Thomas Murphy for-bade his men from entering the flaming field.

"It would be suicide to send men in there," he said.

Virtually all of the fire apparatus in the city was required to bring the flames under control. A high wind made fire fighting extremely difficult and drove blazing sparks for miles around. Scores of alarms were turned in by householders and business people in the immediate neighborhood of the field.

Hundred of citizens aided the firemen in fighting the terrific flames. Nearby roofs were black with persons playing garden hose and throwing water from buckets on roof flames started by falling embers.

So quickly did the flames travel that eight homes were destroyed in an hour.

SURVIVAL OF THE UNFIT

Approximately a million defectives or close to one percent of the population are being supported by the productive workers of the United States in institutions of one sort or another. One person out of every eleven in this country is wholly dependent on the charity of the other ten. Add to this number, which represents probably not more than ten per cent of the defectives, delinquents, criminals, orphans, epileptics, feeble-minded and insane persons in the United States all the neurotic and emotional misfits—and the total is appalling. This fact is sufficiently startling in itself; but it is far more startling to be told by an eminent neuropathologist that the number of misfits is rapidly increasing. This is true not only in the United States, but throughout the western world, which has been caught in the vortex of a civilization that threatens to destroy itself. The trend is not toward the superman but is rather toward the steady debasement of the race physically and intellectually.

A primary cause of this condition is the sentimentalism of western nations, which has erected "a wall of artificial safeguards about the very elements of the population which nature destroyed by her own violence under more primitive and more natural conditions of life," as one American neuropathologist puts it. The weak and unfit and "botched" who formerly perished because they could not stand the pace set by the fit, are now kept alive by the millions; and no compensating provision is made for preventing the mfrom reproducing their kind. This has lowered the mental and physical stamina of western peoples and diminished the ability of the human mechanism to adjust itself to the tremendous environmental changes that have taken place in the west in the last century. These two factors have vastly increased and continue rapidly to increase the proportion of unfits to normal beings in the world, with the result that each year the productive element of the population is called on to carry a heavier load of defectives. This in turn causes the fit to speed up and so further reduces their powers of resistance.

These are facts which are borne in on us at every turn. They explain much of the crime now prevalent and about one-fourth of the taxation levied by the several states. They account for the low intelligence quotients obtained in the army tests during the late war. They point to an inescapable conclusion: The conditions responsible for this downward trend of the race must be corrected—or—western civilization will extinguish itself as other civilizations before it have done. The apparent hopelessness of the prospect lies in the fact that the only alternative to the extinction of our civilization is a return to a more natural life, which is about the last thing the mass mind appears willing to consider. The whole trend of mass thought is to crowd more into a life already full and overflowing. As this trend gains greater momentum and the proportion of low intelligence to high intelligence further increases it will become more difficult, if not impossible, to escape from the monster which the Frankenstein of western civilization has crated for its own undoing.

Some Pages from American History

By VICTOR MORGAN

THE ERIE CANAL

The Erie Canal, most important public improvement made up to that time, was completed in 1825 by the state of New York. It connected the Hudson river at Troy and Albany with Lake Erie, at the point where Buffalo now stands.

Many denounced and ridiculed the undertaking as a sheer waste of the people's money, when Governor DeWitt Clinton first proposed it. They called it "Clinton's Big Ditch," and predicted it would never be completed, that it would use up millions of dollars in taxes and yield nothing but mud in the end.

The 363 miles of country between the Hudson and the lake is rough and broken in places and is nearly 600 feet higher at the lake end. Governor Clinton was jeeringly asked whether he could make the water run uphill. He answered that he could do better; he could build locks which would make water lift the canal boats over the hills.

He set an army of laborers at work, and they toiled for eight years in the wilderness. They had to cut down forests, excavate the earth, blast their way through ridges of rock, build adequate bridges to carry the canal across rivers, and construct locks of solid masonry to carry it up the hillsides. When the undertaking was finished and the water let in, a row of cannon about five miles apart, extending from Buffalo to New York, flashed the news the length of the state.

The expense of building the canal was paid by means of a small tax levied by the state on boats and freight. Before the completion of the New York Central railroad, the canal carried both passengers and freight.

One can appreciate the effect the canal had on commerce when one learns that before it was built the charge for hauling a barrel of flour from Albany to Buffalo was $50. After the canal was opened a barrel of flour could be sent through in a week at a cost of thirty cents.

FROCKS ADEPT IN FLATTERY

Only Paris could contrive a frock so artlessly plain, yet chic, as is first pictured. The secret lies in clever cutting and simple development. Dotted silk is used for the development of the model, which has an inserted, plaited section in front of the skirt. Shirring at the shoulders, a plain collar and cuffs and the back brought forward in soft effect are distinctive style features. Medium size requires 3 1/4 yards 36-inch dotted and 3/4 yard 36-inch plain material.

A twill or flannel could be modishly developed after the second model; so could a linen or a novelty cotton. The sides are plaited, with patch pockets stitched above the plaits. Collar, vest, pockets and cuffs are of contrasting fabric, plaid being first in favor. Medium size requires 3 1/4 yards 36-inch plaid and 3/4 yard 36-inch plaid material.

First Model: Pictorial Review Printed Pattern No. 3128. Sizes, 14 to 18 years and 34 to 42 inches bust. Price 45 cents.
Second Model: Printed Pattern No. 3120. Sizes, 14 to 18 years and 34 to 42 inches bust. Price 45 cents.

THE CALL OF THE WILD (DEUCE)

BROKEN HEARTS of HOLLYWOOD

BY EDWARD CLARK

Copyrighted by Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

"BROKEN HEARTS OF HOLLYWOOD" with Louise Dresser is a Warner picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Betsy Terwilliger, a beautiful young woman, is mutually attracted to Hal Channing, a handsome young man, by newspaper contests. In their trophy, arriving in Hollywood they take rooms in the same boarding house—a place frequented by movie actors, who find Betsy's face strangely familiar. She is reputed to be responsible for many of the "broken hearts" of Hollywood. The next morning they report at the studio.

CHAPTER V.

What after the soaring thrill of the extravagant (in their eyes) reception accorded them by the presence of a real chauffeur and a real limousine at the station to meet them upon their arrival, Betsy and Hal naturally expected that they would be received with open arms and not a little fuss at the Amalgamated Studio. It was something of a puzzle to them, therefore, when they had reported bright and early that next morning, to have the Casting Director, Cameron, accept their credentials and pictures without a word or the hint of a smile of welcome.

Suddenly both Betsy and Hal felt ill at ease, and exchanged nervous glances.

Cameron, with the eternal frowning preoccupation of an over-busy man, arose from his littered desk and after a brief, keen appraisal of each—with his rapier eyes the only features of his expressionless face showing the slightest trace of animation, and that cryptic—he said tersely:

"How do you do. Please wait here." Then he walked quickly from the railed off lobby space that served him for an office, and disappeared.

There had been, then, no oily tongue and dark earnestness to fascinate the naive confidence of Betsy this morning, or to ruffle Hal. Together, on the train, these two had shared the thrill of great expectations; together, on the bus this morning en route to their actual destiny, they had shared the deeper excitement of imminent greater fulfillment.

Hammus, who explained that he was engaged for a small part in one of the features now being shot at the Amalgamated Studios, had proffered his friendly guidance in showing them the way to the Studios—right up, in fact, to the very desk of the man to whom their letters of instruction directed them to report, Stewart Cameron. Then Hammus had gone off to dress for his day's work, leaving Betsy and Hal to their first meeting with Cameron, which has already been described.

Now, while they awaited on the figurative pins and needles for the return of the casting director, something of the expectancy that is the keynote of a studio general lobby, that quivers on the general air of resigned depression like an overtone of eternal springing hope, caught hold in their consciousness. They began to experience twinges of that flavor of gambling uncertainty which gets into the blood of movie workers and makes of the moving picture industry a "game," instead of a business—a game of incessant chance that holds its victims with deadly hypnotism akin to Monte Carlo's spinning wheels and "little white balls."

"I hope we get good parts," breathed Betsy ecstatically to Hal, forgetting her apprehensions for a moment.

But a sudden restlessness and forward stir among the extras, presaging the return of Cameron, broke into the moods of Betsy and Hal with a chill appearance of begging that again flattened their confidence.

In returning toward his desk from the door to the inner offices, Cameron's way led him along a section of the brass railing. Toward this a score or more of the neediest looking actors surged, like mendicants, with hands outstretched to clutch at Cameron's and gain his passing attention.

What followed, Betsy and Hal watched and heard with rather sickened faculties. Each man or woman had a particular claim on Cameron's attention to voice; each a particular hard luck story. Cameron, who was a soft-hearted man beneath the absolutely necessary armor of his adamantine bearing, was halted momentarily by each clutching hand; each bitter plea. And while disengaging each restraining hand gently yet firmly, he made a low-toned but decisive refusal to each plea. Finally—swiftly—he reached the end of the line and came back to face Betsy and Hal. The rejected claimants of his favor drifted sadly away from the railing, the less desperate ones remained restlessly in place, looking sullenly toward Betsy and Hal. Cameron surveyed the two with eyes that were neither friendly nor unfriendly, but merely professionally detached.

"Hum!" he said presently. Then, to Betsy alone, with a faint show of interest, he too, made the observation that had come to puzzle both Betsy and Hal so much since their advent to Hollywood.

"You remind me of someone, Miss Terwilliger. Someone who used to be in pictures. I think. Can't remember who, though. Oh, well—"

"Oh, Hal, some of those poor old

RADIO'S CHILD FASHION MODEL

Petite Muriel Planck, five-year old fountain head of fashion lore, follows one of the most unique occupations in the world, probably the only job of its kind anywhere. She is a radio fashion model for children's clothes.

Upon her baby figure are draped the beautiful creations of the Homemakers' Hour Textile school, broadcast by WLS, Chicago, on the air every Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Marion Gray, textile school instructor, believes it is simpler and much more realistic to have a living child upon whom to drape her object lessons.

The purpose of Miss Gray's talks are to show how simple the little dresses may be made, often from remnants of ribbon or short lengths of material.

REPORT ON ACTIVITIES OF YEAR IS GIVEN AT FINAL SESSION OF ROOSEVELT JUNIOR HIGH P. T. A.

The report of the activities accomplished by the Roosevelt Junior High school P. T. A. during the year was presented at the final meeting of the association in the following manner:

Roosevelt Junior High held its first meeting of the semester, August 27, 1925, in the cafeteria of the Junior high school. We had an attendance of 65 parents, teachers and students. The purpose of the meeting was to give the parents a report on the work of the school during the year.

We donated money for car books and also money for towels for the gym for girls. We were unable to pay for these things; purchased seven dozen cups and spoons, to be used when refreshments were served; we solicited old shoes and the shoe-making class at Junior High repaired these and distributed them to the poor.

In December the faculty and students of Junior high gave a bazaar for the purpose of raising money to buy a picture moving machine. We were able to assist very materially in this, donating aprons, fancy work and food for the sale. This bazaar was a success beyond the school's greatest expectations. Two dollars and fifty cents was donated to the tuberculosis seal drive.

Through the kindness and generosity of Mrs. Morris, the cafeteria manager, we purchased material to be made into garments by the sewing class of Junior high. Mrs. Morris contributed half the amount necessary to make this. Eighty garments were made and we have material left to make many more. These garments were made to fit and distributed to destitute children who were entertained at a Christmas party given by the Girls' Association and the teachers of Junior high. We also helped furnish refreshments for this party.

On January 21, 1926, we commenced our meeting for the second semester of the term. We contributed $2 to the Near East relief fund. We also donated $1 a month for the rest of the school term, to Mrs. Willis, philanthropic chairman of the Federation for philanthropic work. We have also donated $10 at Christmas time for philanthropic work to Mrs. Willis.

In February we sent $2 to the Founders' Day fund. On February 22 a committee of members of Junior High P. T. A. served frank, cake, chocolate and ice cream to the visiting teams who played basketball at the Students' Cafeteria.

We are now planning to have a fathers and sons' banquet on the anniversary of the fathers and sons' banquet held last year, which was a decided success.

Our cafeteria manager, Mrs. Morris, is at present taking boys who are very much undernourished and who come from homes where it is impossible, because of poverty, to give them sufficient food, and feeding them all they can eat. These boys are placed at a table with attractive tablecloths and flowers in an effort to instill in them a desire for better and finer things. We are assisting in this work.

A Lighter Six of Chrysler Quality and Value At New Low Prices

For you who would limit your motor car investment to any of the lower-priced sixes, Walter P. Chrysler presents another sensational quality product—the new lighter six-cylinder Chrysler "60".

In the new lighter Chrysler "60" are the same brilliant Chrysler engineering, the same high quality of materials, the same superior craftsmanship, the same rigid test and inspection, the same assured endurance and dependability that have won such public acclaim in all other Chrysler cars.

Sixty miles, and more, per hour; unprecedented acceleration; gas economy of 22 miles per gallon; the striking beauty of Chrysler dynamic symmetry; astonishing handling and riding ease—these are only a few of more than a score of features heretofore found in similar degree only in sixes of far higher price.

The lower price of the new lighter "60"—the lowest price at which a Chrysler six has ever been sold—is merely a difference of size, of speed capacity, of special performance.

This means that the new lighter "60" will outclass every other car in the field of the lower-priced Six—just as every Chrysler outclasses every other car in its particular field.

You will find us eager to demonstrate to you the extraordinary Chrysler qualities which make the new lighter Chrysler "60" at these new low prices the most sensational value in all motor car history.

VARIETY AND SPICE FEATURE AT CALIFORNIA

A variety program of five acts of headliner vaudeville comes to the California Theatre today, in conjunction with the screen feature "Partners Again—With Potash and Perlmutter," featuring George Sidney and Alexander Carr.

Saslo the Great, one of the best mystifiers in vaudeville, and his company of assistants, come as the headline attraction of the bill, with many new tricks in magic and illusion novel, and will make today's audiences gasp with wonderment.

Fresh from triumphs in the Principal West Coast Theatre presentations, Cushing and Hutton, in their hits from Musical Comedy, will be one of the outstanding attractions on today's bill.

Their voices are splendidly balanced and their repertoire is ideally selected.

A colored couple, Prince and Richards by name, uphold the torchbearer side of the program in no uncertain manner. Miss Richards is an exponent of the very latest steps in soft shoe and buck and wing dancing.

In acrobatics it would be hard to find such acts as Angelo Armento, and The Monroe Bros. The latter with their comedy trampoline tricks and the former recognized as one of the foremost whirlwind tumbler on the stage today.

The screen feature in conjunction with the vaudeville bill will be "Partners Again—With Potash and Perlmutter," adapted from the Broadway stage success by Montague Glass and Jules Eckert Goodman, with George Sidney and Alexander Carr as the famous airplane, and then with a runaway airplane. This laugh sensation of the nation will make you laugh, roar and howl as you never have done before.

Other features on the same program include "What a Life," a comedy screen; "Kinograms," world events; Carl Richard's California Orchestra; and Larry Canelo, at the mammoth organ.

"That's My Baby" Is Comedy Riot At the Richmond

Yes, sir, "That's My Baby," is coming to the Richmond Theatre. This new Douglas MacLean mirthquake, heralded as that popular comedian's funniest film, is scheduled to make its local debut today.

The story was especially created for MacLean by George J. Crone and Wade Boteler, and provides him with ample opportunities to display his own brand of foolery.

William Beaudine, who jumped into directing prominence with Mary Pickford's production of "Little Annie Rooney," wielded the megaphone on the MacLean vehicle and is said to have turned out a picture that has as many laughs and thrills as a porcupine has quills. Joseph Franklin Poland attended to the adaptation.

The supporting cast is not the least of the production's attractions. Margaret Morris is the lovely heroine, whose ankle is responsible for many of MacLean's rib-tickling trials and tribulations. Claude Gillingwater, Eugene Ford, Richard Tucker and Fred Kelsey are the others who add to the hilarious fun.

MacLean's role is that of a young man who believes that angles reveal the real character of people—particularly the feminine gender. What more natural then that he should fall in love with a girl whose ankles are perfect? His troubles begin when he tries to locate the girl by identifying her by her ankles. They increase when he finds her and discovers that her father is an old business rival of his. To further complicate his romance, his rival presents him with a baby and tells the girl it belongs to MacLean.

Matters come to a head when MacLean gives the girl's father a headache powder that turns out to be poison. When he discovers the mistake, the girl and her father have already started on a motor-trip. Still burdened with the baby, MacLean starts in pursuit of the wildest, dizziest and funniest chase ever put on the screen.

Other features include "Sit Tight," a Jimmie Adams comedy; and "Kinograms," world news events.

Cowboys Favor Vermont Horse To Mustang

(By Universal Service)

WASHINGTON, June 5.—Mustangs of the great open spaces of the west are being released to the glue-works by horses from little old Vermont, home state of President Coolidge, the agriculture department made known today.

What the cowboys and range riders want are "horses, horses, horses," giving more miles per bucket of oats, and the purebred Morgan strain of horses from the land of the cap-bucket are knocking the old-time cayuse for a row of horseshoes.

Morgan horses for range use are being bred at the U. S. range livestock experiment station at Miles City, Montana, the department stated. The premier sire is "Revere" 7422, bred at the Morgan horse farm at Middlebury, Vermont.

"Revere" is a double grandson of the Champion Morgan stallion "Bennington," of a strain of remarkable stamina and endurance. Several Morgan horses have successfully completed the annual 300 mile endurance ride, carrying weights of 200 pounds 60 miles a day for five consecutive days in the grueling tests.

It is believed that they will prove ideal mounts for modern range conditions demanding speed and unusual endurance. Cattlemen and sheepmen of Montana have found them superior to the mus-

NEW FEATURES PROMISED ON 1927 AUTOS

By ROY C. HAYES
Universal Services Automobile
Editor.

DETROIT, Mich., June 5.—With the Indianapolis race over the peak of the spring auto selling period reached and the 1926 touring season in full swing, motoring America is casting an eye to 1917 and the automobile developments that are in the offing.

Although a few of its leading engineers maintain that the motor car has not really reached its ultimate development, the industry generally is not anticipating anything radical in next year's cars.

New offerings are expected, of course, but probably will not parallel the importance in a general way, of the introduction of balloon tires and four wheel brakes a few years ago.

Minor engineering advances are being made every day and due to their number, they frequently fail to get public appreciation due them, nearly every company in the industry is constantly improving its product and saying little about the advantages that are making American-built automobiles constantly improved vehicles.

This attitude is proving highly beneficial to the industry. The dealer and the public as well. It has overcome much of the seasonal phase of the automobile selling business and has enabled the factories to iron out their production schedules to a more equitable distribution of manufacturing.

It is an assurance to the buyer that his new car of today, will not be superceded tomorrow by something of the same name but radically different in make-up. The motorist now realizes that he can buy with confidence.

It goes without saying that 1927 cars will be better automobiles in every way, although there promises to be four outstanding notes in car development.

Most notable will be the more graceful, ornate and harmonious appearance of cars generally. Emphasis will be placed on streamlining, with square backs reduced to curves, lower set, racer looking bodies and a more profuse display of color. Fancy radiator caps will adorn the majority of cars as standing equipment. Vision is being broadened.

"blind spots" are going out, now that engineers are cutting the width of the front posts nearly in half.

Speed ability will be greater, not as an end in itself, but to provide better acceleration. Dealers throughout the country, especially in the larger centers, where traffic light signals are employed are finding that the saleable automobile must be able to get up and go when the green light flashes. Not one man in a hundred wants to keep his foot throttle right down to the floor board for a long stretch but everyone wants "peppy" action every day.

Fourth of the expected improvements promises to be in riding qualities. Feminine motorists—and they are legion—are demanding it. Automobile ownership by women has increased by leaps and bounds and where she is not the owner of the car, her influence on a purchase will be governed greatly by the ratio of comfort that is afforded in riding.

One or two of the 1927 cars are already on the streets. Several others will arrive in July and more in August.

Miss Janet Pemberton, a local teacher left yesterday to spend her vacation at Gridley.

GOLF

Evidently the University of California faculty has a queer idea of the royal and ancient game of golf, for it was learned yesterday that the faculty is emphatically not in favor of the game. As the result of the hue and cry, the funds for the golf course have been curtailed to such a point that it will be impossible to purchase new supplies and in all probability the course will be disbanded.

BOXING

The California Boxing commission is hard at work finding some more boxers to suspend from their list. Several managers have lost their license and more than ten fighters have been placed on the black list for fouling, failure to appear and other "crimes." Five other boxers who were suspended were again placed on the eligible list, and apparently they are back in the good graces of the commission.

HELEN WILLS

Helen Wills seems to be faced with some mighty hard luck since her operation on Friday for the physicians attending her has ordered her to keep off the courts. In spite of the fact, the plucky American player has declared she will enter the same as strong as ever. If Miss Wills has to quit the game, who will replace her? Helen Jacobs seems to be about the best one possible to take her place, but maybe a new star will arise and Helen Wills will be forgotten.

FOOTBALL

Paris Interested In Mens Singles Of Tennis Tourney

(By Universal Service)
PARIS, June 5.—Helen Wills having been scratched from the women's singles in the international court championships, and from the mixed doubles with Vincent Richards, because of her sudden attack of appendicitis, the chief interest now rests in the men's singles, where it is expected Richards and La Costa will meet.

Richards plays Count Balbi of Italy tomorrow. Howard Kinsey meets Count Salm in the third round. Today La Costa eliminated Sarikis, the Dutch player, 6-0, 6-3, 6-2. Richards and Kinsey advanced in the men's doubles by defeating the French pair Danie and Hirsch 6-2, 6-3, 6-2.

In the ladies' doubles Miss Ryan and Miss Browne defeated Mlle. des Landes and Mlle. Veronesi 6-4, 6-2. In the mixed doubles Mlle. Langlen and Brugnon eliminated Mlle. Rouman and Timmer of Holland 6-2, 6-2; Mlle. Contostavlos and Washer defeated Mrs. Marion Z. Jessup and Lord Chelmsford 9-7, 8-6, and Miss Ryan and Kinsey beat Mme. Vassard and E. Poulin 6-2, 6-0.

The most exciting match of the day was that in which Borotra, the French flash, defeated H. Pyzice after a terrific battle, 6-2, 6-2, 2-6, 6-1, 6-2.

PARR LEASE TO BE DISCUSSED

The various phases of the proposed lease of the municipal wharves in the inner and outer harbors to the Parr Terminal company of Oakland, will be discussed at a conference of the city council as a whole and city attorney T. M. Carlson at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Following the conference attorneys of the Terminal company and the council will meet to see whether or not the lease can be closed.

The negotiations have been under consideration for several weeks and it is believed that they have now reached such a stage where a decision one way or another can be reached definitely. If an agreement is reached tomorrow, it is believed that the entire lease will be made public and signed probably within the next few weeks.

Recognition of Russia Aim of Big Business

Large interests, urge the resumption of diplomatic relations at the earliest possible moment, so that Americans may benefit over their European competitors.

In spite of the diplomatic barrier, Harriman has already acquired a vast manganese concession in Russia and has agents in Moscow seeking others. Vanclain made a personal investigation of the Russian railways and is anxious to find a market there for rolling stock. The Vacuum Oil company has acquired concessions for the export of surplus petroleum, but there is still a large excess for which other companies are said to be negotiating.

The only stumbling block is the policy announced by Secretary of State Hughes shortly after he assumed office. He declared that before there could be any negotiations with Russia, that country must first acknowledge a debt contracted by Czarist Regime. This Soviet Russia declined to do, on the ground that most of the debt was illegally contracted and also that it would be a surrender of sovereignty to make such a declaration a prerequisite to negotiations.

The State Department then wished to send a commission to Russia to investigate conditions. Russia refused to grant this request unless the State Department would permit a Russian commission to study conditions in the United States.

Here the matter has rested for several years until the advent of the tremendous boom which got under way in Russia last April. Weathering a financial crisis of great proportions without aid from without the government experiment in industrial development got its head above water. Three of the great industries, operated exclusively by the government, but on the same basis as American trusts, are producing at prewar levels. Others are above ninety per cent. Foreign trade with the United States is larger than ever before, mainly exports to Russia. This has started American business to tremendous activity.

Russia, it was learned officially, would welcome recognition in one of two ways. The first would be recognition with the understanding that claims and counter claims be worked out amicably afterwards. This form was recently extended to Mexico by Great Britain. The other is the appointment of joint commissions which would agree on the type of claims to be paid before recognition is extended.

Russia, it was declared, is willing to pay every cent justly due, as commissioners may determine. But Russia also has a counter claim against the United States, based on the American invasion of Siberia and moneys advanced to Czarist representatives in the United States without the sanction of the Soviet and which was never received in Russia.

A significant trend in the direction of better feeling and trust was pointed out. The United States long-closing its doors to any one connected with the Soviet government has recently issued upwards of 500 passports for their experts to visit the United States to study industrial and economic methods.

FINED $50 FOR SPEEDING

Louis Delabrianos of Richmond was yesterday fined $50 when he appeared before Justice of the Peace John Roth and was found guilty of speeding fifty miles per hour on the Giant highway. Delabrianos claimed that he was attending a theatre in Berkeley at the time he was supposed to have been speeding on the highway, but Traffic Officer George Leber positively identified him.

TIRE SALE IS BEING HELD BY AUTO SUPPLY CO

Just now, at the beginning of the vacation season, when economy in the purchase of tires is most appreciated, the Western Auto Supply company is offering motorists worth while savings in a tire sale.

In announcing this tire sale, Joe Keefe, local manager of the Western Auto Supply company stated that this would give motorists an opportunity to outfit their cars with new tires before starting out on their vacation trips.

"Motorists of the west have long known the high quality of Wear Well and Western Giant cords," says Keefe, "and their reputation for long wear and excellent service is increasing their sales by leaps and bounds."

"The Western Auto Supply company makes new tires one of their leaders and stocks are replenished at short intervals. For this reason we are able to assure the motorist that he can expect and get the maximum of mileage from a tire purchased at any Western Auto store and tell him that in case he does not get it, he can take the same tire to any Western Auto store, whether it be the one he purchased it from or another one, and secure an adjustment that will leave him no cause for complaint."

"In addition to the reduction in tire prices, this sale will include many camping and touring necessities," concluded Keefe.

Motorist Has Narrow Escape

Despite the fact that his touring car completely overturned, H. A. Patten, 27 Water street, escaped without injury Friday night when his automobile stalled on the Santa Fe avenue hill and rolled backward down the steep grade. Patten attempted to steer the car into the curbing thereby overturning the machine and pinning himself under it.

Patton crawled from under the car without any injury. The top of the machine was completely damaged.

CROCKETT MAN DIES IN BAY

Identified in Martinez as Frank Del Carlo, 38, an employee of the Crockett sugar refinery for the past 16 years, the body of a man was recovered from the bay at Crockett a few minutes after he had leaped or fallen into the water.

Employees of the refinery stated that he had been acting strangely of late and he is said to have told a sister a few days ago that he would not be around much longer.

Read Why Hupmobile Six Excels Cars Even Higher in Price

Hupmobile Six superiority is basic. It is conclusive. It does not exclude even cars above our price. Herewith are briefly detailed a few of the features—the easy steering, the rigid crankshaft, the clear-vision bodies, the special vibration damper, and the like—which contribute to that pre-eminence in performance and economy, and to beauty and safety as well.

Rigid, No-whip Crankshaft—

Hupmobile Six has a heavy, rigid crankshaft—the kind too costly for common use. Vibration is eliminated in a six by a rigid crankshaft to overcome whipping and bending, and by a damper to counteract the torsional or twisting tendency of a revolving crankshaft.

Special Windshield Clear-Vision, Ventilating—

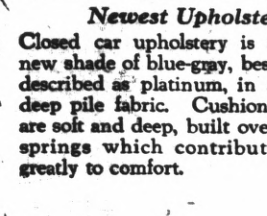

The one-piece, clear-vision windshield ventilates without tilting in or out. It raises vertically by a hand lifter, circulating full-width sweep of air down into the driving compartment, and straight back into the car when desired, as shown by the arrows.

Special Vibration Damper—

No vibration damper can do more than eliminate the torsional vibration already referred to. And without a heavy, rigid crankshaft such as this engine has, a damper itself means little. The Hupmobile Six damper is a special and improved design.

Newest Upholstery in Latest Mode—

Closed car upholstery is a new shade of blue-gray, best described as platinum, in a deep pile fabric. Cushions are soft and deep, built over springs which contribute greatly to comfort.

Safety in the Clear-Vision Bodies—

Hupmobile bodies have narrow pillars for clear vision. At the pillars, the internal framing is of steel. Elsewhere the framing is of wood. This composite construction affords all advantages of both steel and wood, and eliminates the disadvantages of all-steel and all-wood.

Other High-Priced Features
Oil Filter, Gasoline Filter, Dash Gasoline Gauge, Remarkably Easy Steering, Machined Combustion Chambers.

Even the enemies of God are organized to discredit the teachings of Christ.

"When we turn our backs on God, there and then is the beginning of the downfall of the United States and we might as well give up Equality, Fraternity and Pursuit of Happiness. We not only stand by our God but for the enforcement of the Laws and the Constitution of our country."

"Do not consider the Klan an enemy, whether you be a Catholic, Jew or Japanese," he declared in addressing the non-members of the organization, "but unless you stand four-square for the government of which you are a part, you do not deserve the name of citizen."

In speaking of the lack of interest in voting, he declared: "Too many Americans fall in their duties as citizens along these lines. You are partners of the United States and as partners you hold a responsibility. We are not telling you how to vote, but urge you to let your conscience guide you."

He called the attention of the vast audience to the illegal entries of immigrants into the United States through Canada and Mexico and declared that when the leakage is found that there will be "another shipment back to Europe." He urged the registration of all aliens in the nation declaring that while citizens are forced to register for voting, for paying income

"Fag-Ends" Topic Of Lindemann

Rev. C. G. Lindemann of Wesley Methodist church has chosen an unusual topic for the Sunday evening service—"Fag-Ends." If you do not know what fag-end means, look it up in the dictionary. During the week a great many people have spoken of the fine service of last Sunday evening. Another interesting and helpful service will be the order Sunday evening. Beside the usual "Big Sing" a choir special, the illumination of the cross, piano solo by Miss Ethel Vernal and the unique sermon of the pastor.

Mrs. Arthur Dice will sing a soprano solo—"Hold Thou My Hand."

At the morning service H. J. Knott of San Francisco will deliver an address entitled "Latest News From the Firing Line."

Graham Goebel, of Portland, Oregon, arrived yesterday morning on the Oregonian to spend a few weeks with relatives here.

tax and in many other ways that the only one who escapes registration is the alien.

"The fundamental success of our nation depends upon your loyalty—your loyalty to yourselves, your order and to your country," he said in urging the members to be true to their oaths and the principles for which their order stands.

The program was interspersed with selections by the band, competitive drills and The Spirit of '76 interpreted by members from San Francisco.

Britain Fears Hoof and Mouth Disease Epidemic

(By Universal Service)

WASHINGTON, June 5.—As a result of the discovery of foot and mouth disease in hog carcasses from the Netherlands intended for consumption in Great Britain, the British ministry of agriculture and fisheries has prohibited the landing of all carcasses from continental European countries, according to a cable received by the department of agriculture from Agricultural Commissioner Foley at London today.

The order covers carcasses of cattle and sheep as well as hogs, and also fresh and refrigerated meat of such animals but does not cover fully cured bacon and ham.

Should the quarantine continue any length of time, is of far reaching significance for the meat trade of the United Kingdom. The Netherlands, all northern and western Europe and the United States, it was stated.

The large supplies of fresh pork which have been moving from the Netherlands to the British markets will have to seek other markets or be shipped as cured meat, and Great Britain will be obliged to look elsewhere for its supplies of fresh pork, the department pointed out.
